

Task 2 High-Scoring Sample Response

In the announcement, the university plans to remove smaller printing stations across campus and centralise printing in the library and student centre. They say this will reduce costs, simplify maintenance, and improve efficiency.

However, the woman disagrees with this decision. First, she explains that she often uses the printer near her dorm because it's quick and convenient, especially before class. Without it, she'll have to walk farther and wait in line at busy locations. Second, she mentions that during midterms and finals, those main printers are already crowded, and if one breaks, it could create serious delays for everyone.

In summary, she opposes the change because it reduces convenience and may cause problems during high-demand times.
